

evaporators, and the recovery boilers remained on their normal cleaning cycle. Hog fuel firing rates increased and the wastewater treatment plant aeration basin had increased sludge disposal capacity.

This paper describes this secondary sludge disposal process and the benefits gained by KPC by burning the sludge in the recovery boilers.